Declaration on the Use of Conflict Minerals

“Conflict minerals” are those minerals which often originate from African countries and are the subject of internal and external conflicts between nations and cultural groups.

The Congolese Government, mineral importers, international donors and the United Nations have all started to take concrete steps to break mineral–conflict links. These are aimed ultimately at allowing the trade in certain key minerals originating in eastern DRC to continue while excluding armed actors from the economic benefits, with the aim to restore security and space for post-conflict peace building.

Based on currently available information, COGNE ACCIAI SPECIALI does not use conflict minerals originating in the Democratic Republic of Congo and its adjoining countries – Angola, Burundi, Central African Republic, Republic of the Congo, Rwanda, Sudan, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia.
